

Ardent Books About the Managing Editor

Sascha Illyvich is a multi-published author with titles spanning his entire career and numerous subgenres in erotica and erotic romance. Having been a copyeditor, junior editor, and finally senior editor with his own line at another house, Mr. Illyvich's authors have continued to win awards for their stories from some of the most prestigious names in erotic fiction such as Coffee Time Romance, Fallen Angels Reviews, and BDSM Book Reviews.

Mr. Illyvich's experience includes writing SEO copy and content creation for the adult industry, nonfiction articles for the cigar and alcohol industry, and various articles on the craft of writing, all while freelance editing for some of today's hottest names in erotica.

In 2009, he created WriteSEX to be the hub of quality content for authors wishing to understand the business of writing erotica.

As managing editor for Ardent Books, Assent Publishing's erotica imprint, Sascha looks forward to taking Ardent authors to new horizons while giving readers the pleasure they seek.
